Church at Thessalonica

Acts 17

The disciples of Jesus were teaching all over the place. Paul and Silas had passed through a few lands in Greece when they came to Thessalonica.

There, they taught about Jesus dying and rising from the dead. There were a lot of people, both Jewish and Greek, who decided to follow them and worship Jesus.

But some of the local Jewish people got very angry about this new religion. They were worried about the unrest it would cause. They tried to get Paul and Silas in trouble for saying things against the Emperor, but they couldn't find them. Instead, they punished Paul & Silas' friend Jason, because he had offered his house as a place for Paul to stay.

It was a tough time to be a follower of Jesus!
